For Immediate Release

Cheyenne – Gerrie Gardner, DO of Cheyenne has been elected President of the Wyoming Medical Society (WMS). Joining her on the executive committee are Vice President Cynthia Casey, MD of Sundance, Secretary / Treasurer Michael Tracy, MD of Powell and Past President Reed Shafer, MD of Cheyenne.

Dr. Gardner is originally from Afton, Wyoming and currently practices cardiology with Cheyenne Cardiology Associates in Cheyenne, Wyoming. She has been active with WMS since returning to Wyoming in 2006, serving previously as both Vice President and Secretary / Treasurer.

“I am extremely excited to represent Wyoming’s physicians as we move forward through all of the change that is happening in the health care field both nationally and in Wyoming,” said Dr. Gardner. “We will continue to be strong advocates for the patients we serve and will be a valuable source of information for all of Wyoming’s health care professionals. WMS will continue to work towards meaningful tort reform and other legislation that will further enhance the health care environment in Wyoming for physicians that want to practice here.”

Dr. Gardner graduated from the College of Osteopathic Medicine of the Pacific in Pomona, California in 1990. She practiced with Sierra Nevada Cardiology Associates in Carson City, Nevada prior to returning to Wyoming. Dr. Gardner is the wife of Hank Warg and proud mother of son, Wyatt and daughter, Isabella.

The Wyoming Medical Society was founded in 1903 to provide representation, advocacy, and service to Wyoming physicians. WMS strives to be an efficient, member-driven, responsive organization. WMS serves membership composed of physicians and physician assistants and their patients working to improve the health of Wyoming’s citizens.
